

ODSP Employment Supports can help you find, prepare for and keep a job.

Work with your caseworker to pick an employment service provider in your community.

Ask your caseworker about financial support that's available to help with the costs of assistive devices, child care and other work-related expenses.

Yes, you can work

+ get ODSP.

You can work while getting financial help from ODSP.

Getting a job can:

- improve your health and well-being
- help you build skills and confidence
- lead to greater independence

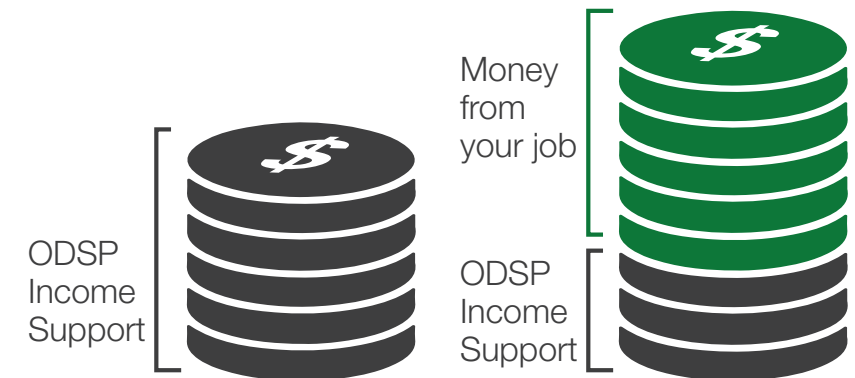

+ keep your benefits.

You'll keep getting your health, dental and vision care benefits when you work.

Even if you leave ODSP for a job, you'll keep getting these benefits, if you don't get them from your employer.

+ have more money.

You'll be better off financially. You'll have more money when you work than from ODSP alone.
