

Transition Recourse Guide

Are You Hoping to Take Your IEP to Post Secondary With You?

If you are then this guide is for you. This guide will help you gain the knowledge that you need to access the resources you will need at college and university. Knowing where to get these can make your transition into college or university a success. This guide has three sections, 1) Resources, 2) Colleges, and 3) Universities.

The Resources section of this guide outlines important information about how students with disabilities are supported at postsecondary schools. All the information is geared to the publicly funded colleges and universities in Ontario. It is intended to help students and their families know what to expect as they transition into their postsecondary schools.

The College and Universities sections provide more detailed information about the resources available at postsecondary schools in Ontario. The information in this guide was compiled from websites and from key personal at these institutions. There are links and contact information provided for students and their families who would like more information on any of these items.

This is meant to be a starting point for potential students as they prepare for postsecondary schools. Students can use this guide to help research potential schools that will meet their needs. Students are strongly encouraged to visit campuses that they wish to attend and to continue to do further in depth research into schools they are interested in before making their final decision.

This guide can also be accessed online at www.transitionresouceguide.ca. The online copy provides the most up to date version of the guide at any time.

You can also follow at RARC on Facebook and Twitter for updates.

Facebook.com/queensrar

@RARC_TRG

